U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Notice Of Public Hearing And Request For State Program Approval To Control Discharges Of Pollutants To Navigable Waters By The State Of Hawaii

The State of Hawaii has submitted a request for approval of its program to control discharges of pollutants to navigable waters under section 402 of the Federal Waters Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (the Act), 33 U.S.C.A. Section 1342 (b).

A public hearing to consider this request will be held on October 10, 1974, at the State Capitol Building, Legislative Auditorium (Chamber Level), Beretania and Richards Streets, Honolulu, Hawaii, starting at 1:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.

The hearing panel will consist of the Environmental Protection Agency Administrator, who will serve as the Presiding Officer, the Director of the Hawaii State Department of Health, and the Environmental Protection Agency Regional Administrator, Region IX, or the representatives of these persons.

Section 402 (b) of the Act provides that the Governor of a State desiring to administer the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit program to control discharges into navigable waters within its jurisdiction may submit to the Administrator of the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) a full and complete description of the program the State intends to administer, including a statement from the State's Attorney General that its laws provide adequate authority to carry out the program described. The Administrator is required to approve each such submitted program unless it does not meet the requirements of section 402 (b) and EPA's guidelines. To administer the NPDES program the State must have the authority, among others, to: (1) issue permits which comply with all pertinent requirements of the Act, (2) abate violations of permits or the permit program including civil and criminal penalties, and (3) ensure that the Administrator, the public, and any affected States and agencies are given notice of and opportunity for a public hearing with regard to each permit application. The State must also have and commit itself to use manpower and resources sufficient to act on all outstanding permit applications in a timely manner and consistent with the periods prescribed by the Act.

EPA's guidelines establishing State Program Elements Necessary for Participation in the NPDES were published in Volume 37 of the Federal Register, December 22, 1972 (40 C.F.R. Part 124) beginning at page 28390.

LEYDEN, Netherlands (AP) — An international team of three young scientists working with the Netherlands Westerbork radio telescope said last week they have discovered a celestial object six times greater than any previously known in the universe.

The astronomers, American Richard G. Strom, Canadian Anthony G. Willis and Englishman Andrew Wilson, describe the object as a radio galaxy 18 million light years in length and located 1,800 million light years from earth.

Code-named 3C236, the object is composed of an optical galaxy — a group of stars emitting visible light — at the center, with other components consisting of gas spread propeller blade side.

Strom, 30, said two radio sources larger than the or 10 galaxies our Milky Way enough to appear the sky than a the eye could see.

Strom said the radio components protons and electrons at very high speed in a magnetic field.

He said that the components are so close they could bump into each other, but they said that if it really is a galaxy it would exert a pressure on the sphere.

"But we would not know if it was a tremendous radio source," Strom added. "It is possible that it has radio signals everywhere."

Strom said it is difficult to estimate the age of the object, or the nature of 3C236 or other radio sources. Based on the discovery, however, the team believes 3C236 to be 10 million years old, or possibly 10 times that old.

The three scientists are working under the Leyden's Foundation for Radio Astronomy.
